AS AND FOR A NINETEENTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

36. Upon information and belief, any award of punitive damages would be in denial of ANALOG'S right to equal protection of the laws as guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution and the New York State Constitution, as the absence of adequate and objective standards for the assessment of punitive damages fails to ensure the equality of treatment between similarly situated civil defendants and equality of treatment between criminal defendants and civil defendants.

AS AND FOR A TWENTIETH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

37. Upon information and belief, any award of punitive damages would violate ANALOG'S Due Process rights embraced by the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments to the United States Constitution and the New York Constitution, as a punitive damage award would require a deprivation of property without due process of law.

AS AND FOR A TWENTY-FIRST AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

38. Upon information and belief, any award of punitive damages would violate the Commerce Clause of Article I of the United States Constitution, constituting an undue and unreasonable burden on interstate commerce, and to the extent it punishes acts or omissions which have occurred outside state boundaries.

AS AND FOR A TWENTY-SECOND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

39. Upon information and belief, any award of punitive damages would violate ANALOG'S right under the Contract Clauses of the United States Constitution and the New York State Constitution, as it would impair the contractual obligations of parties to this action.

AS AND FOR A TWENTY-THIRD AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

40. Upon information and belief, an award of punitive damages in this action would contravene the constitutional prohibitions against ex post facto laws.

AS AND FOR A TWENTY-FOURTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

41. Plaintiff's demand for punitive damages is barred by the proscription of the Eighth Amendment to the United States Constitution, as applied to the states through the Fourteenth Amendment, prohibiting the imposition of excessive fines.

AS AND FOR A TWENTY-FIFTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

42. ANALOG was not properly served with process in the within action.

AS AND FOR A TWENTY-SIXTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

43. Upon information and belief, the spoliation of the product at issue, its alleged defective component parts and/or its packaging has deprived ANALOG of its full and unfettered opportunity to establish and present a defense herein, thus entitling it to dismissal of the claims against it.

AS AND FOR A TWENTY-SEVENTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

44. Upon information and belief, the Eastern District of New York is an improper venue for this action.

AS AND FOR A TWENTY-EIGHTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

45. ANALOG reserves its right to assert any additional affirmative defenses and claims of avoidance as may be appropriate based upon the facts or issues disclosed during the course of additional investigation and discovery.

WHEREFORE, Defendant ANALOG MODULES, INC. hereby demands judgment:

- a. dismissing the Complaint;
- b. in the event that Plaintiff is entitled to recover, that such damages be diminished in proportion to which the culpable conduct attributable to the Plaintiff bears to the culpable conducting causing such damages;
- c. apportioning fault between all parties; and
- d. directing such other, further and different relief which may be just, proper and equitable, together with the costs and disbursements therein.

Re: Ryan Prendergast v. Analog Modules, Inc.
Case No.: 1:08-cv-1329(JG)(VVP)
Our File: 7653.0001

Dear Judge Gleeson:

We are defense counsel to Analog Modules, Inc., in the above referenced action. Pursuant to Your Honor's rules, we are writing to request a pre-motion conference. We respectfully submit that the Eastern District of New York is not a proper venue for the instant action, and that the case should be transferred to the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York.

Plaintiff claims that on July 7, 2007, he was performing a service call on a medical device at a physician's office in Manhattan when he received an electrical shock. At the time of the alleged accident, plaintiff was employed with non-party, Hoya ConBio a/k/a Hoya Photonics, Inc., and was performing service on a "Laser Device Model 'Medlite C6'," manufactured and sold by Hoya ConBio. According to the Complaint, a "5700 Series Capacitor charging power supply," manufactured by Analog Modules, Inc., was a component part and was used to supply power to the Laser Device. Plaintiff alleges that the component part supplied by Analog Modules, Inc. was defective and caused him personal injuries.

Subject matter jurisdiction in this action is based upon diversity of citizenship of the parties. Plaintiff is a resident of the State of New Jersey. Defendant, Analog Modules, Inc., is a Florida Corporation.

It is respectfully submitted that the Eastern District of New York is not a proper venue for this action. Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1391:

Case No.: 1:08-cv-1329

(a) A civil action wherein jurisdiction is founded only on diversity of citizenship may, except as otherwise provided by law, be brought only in (1) a judicial district where any defendant resides, if all defendants reside in the same State, (2) a judicial district in which a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred, or a substantial part of property that is the subject of the action is situated, or (3) a judicial district in which any defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction at the time the action is commenced, if there is no district in which the action may otherwise be brought.

Section 1391(c) defines the residence requirement for corporate defendants as “any judicial district in which it is subject to personal jurisdiction at the time the action is commenced.” 28 U.S.C. § 1391(c). Pursuant to this provision, an action against a corporate defendant may be brought in the district where the defendant was incorporated, any district where it is licensed to do business, or any district that passes the corporate “doing business” test. Factors to consider under this test include: “(1) the existence of an office in New York; (2) the solicitation of business in New York; (3) the existence of bank accounts or other property in New York; and (4) the presence of employees in New York.” Mende v. Milestone Tech., 269 F.Supp.2d 246 (S.D.N.Y. 2003).

Analog Modules, Inc., is a Florida corporation, with its principal place of business in Hollywood, Florida, and its manufacturing facility in Longwood, Florida. It does not maintain an office, nor any employees, in the State of New York.

Under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(c), the New York State longarm statute, CPLR 302, must also be considered. Under this statute, a foreign corporation is subject to personal jurisdiction where it

1. transacts any business within the state or contracts anywhere to supply goods or services in the state; or
2. commits a tortious act within the state, except as to a cause of action for defamation of character arising from the act; or
3. commits a tortious act without the state causing injury to person or property within the state, except as to a cause of action for defamation of character arising from the act, if he
 - (i) regularly does or solicits business, or engages in any other persistent course of conduct, or derives substantial revenue from goods used or consumed or services rendered, in the state, or
 - (ii) expects or should reasonably expect the act to have consequences in the state and derives substantial revenue from interstate or international commerce;

Case No.: 1:08-cv-1329

NY CPLR 302. These factors only serve to provide a basis for personal jurisdiction against a foreign defendant where the company's New York acts form the basis of the action.

In the instant action, the device that is the subject of this action was manufactured at the Analog Modules, Inc., facility in Longwood, Florida. Thereafter, the device was shipped to Hoya ConBio in Fremont, California. For the purposes of the longarm statute, Analog Modules, Inc., made no affirmative act involving New York. As a result, the provisions of CPLR will not provide a basis for personal jurisdiction over Analog Modules, Inc., in the Eastern District of New York.

It is respectfully submitted that Analog Modules, Inc., would not be subject to personal jurisdiction in the Eastern District, if the district were a State, pursuant to the provisions of 28 U.S.C. 1391 (a)(1). As a result, the provisions of subsection (2) must be examined.

Under 28 U.S.C. 1391 (a)(2), venue in a diversity action may be placed in "a judicial district in which a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred." The alleged accident that gives rise to this action occurred in the office of Dr. Dennis Smetana, 225 East 95th Street, New York, New York. As the event giving rise to this action occurred in Manhattan, it may be venued in the Southern District of New York.

Based upon the foregoing, we respectfully request that a pre-motion conference be scheduled to address the issue of transfer of this action to the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York. Pursuant to Your Honor's rules, plaintiff may serve a letter response to this application within seven days of service.

Respectfully submitted,

/S/
